from President Roosevelt to the commission under date of March 8. The letter, which was read at the meeting to-day, follows: "Sirs-I have appointed you as the commission which is to undertake the most important and also the most formidable engineer feat that has hitherto been attempted. You are to do a work, the doing of which, if done well, will reflect high honor upon this Nation and when done, will be of incalculable benefit, not only to this Nation, but to civilized mankind. As you yourselves must individually know, I have chosen you with reference to nothing save my belief, after full and patient inquiry, that you are among all the available men of whom I have knowledge those best fitted to bring this great task to a successful conclusion. You have been chosen because of your personal and professional reputations for integrity and the successor of Mr. Beavers as chief of ability. You represent the whole country. You represent neither section nor party. I a single one of you, and indeed, as to the the list. majority of you, I have not the slightest idea what your political affiliations are. I shall expect you to appoint no man for reasons other heed to any backing or influence the man may have. I assume as a matter of course that in dealing with contractors you will act on precisely the principles which would apply in any great private business undertaking. There is no man among you to whom I think it is necessary to say a word as to the standard of honesty to be expected from every employe or contractor; for if I had had the slightest ground for suspicion that there were need to say such a word to any one of you I should not have appointed him. But I do wish to emphasize that need of unceasing vigilance in the performance of this great work. "As to the details of the work itself. I have but little to say. It is to be done as expeditiously as possible, and as economically as is consistent with thoroughness. There is one matter to which I wish to ask your special attention—the question of san-itation and hygiene: You will take measures to secure the best medical experts for this purpose whom you can obtain, and you will, of course, make the contractors submit as implicitly as your own employes to all the rules and regulations of the medical department under you. I presume you will find it best to have one head for this medical department, but that I shall leave to your own judgment. 'The plans are to be carefully made with a view to the needs not only of the moment, but of the future. The expenditures are to be supervised as rigorously as if they were being made for a private corporation dependent for its profits upon the returns. You are to secure the best talent this country can afford to meet the conditions created by every need which may arise. The methods for achieving the results must be yours. What this Nation will insist upon is that the results be achieved."

Mr. Wynne was the first to be heard. After calling his attention to the printed list of names of congressmen in the special report Mr. McCall asked Mr. Wynne what knowledge he had of this report. In reply Mr. Wynne said: "The first knowledge the committee on postoffices and postroads had of the existence cI such a list was in a statement made by Mr. Waters before the committee in explanation of appropriations for separating service. When this service was reached in the hearing the chairman or some member of the committee asked Mr. Waters how many of these allowances had been discontinued. He said there had been about 900. My recollection is that another question asked was if there was a list of these discontinued allowances and he answered that there was.'

This, Mr. Wynne said, was on Jan. 11, Mr. Wynne said the next time the list came to his attention was on Jan. 25, when the postnaster general showed him a letter from Chairman Overstreet. This letter requested all information which could be communigeneral with reference to allowances for
